LLOYD GEORGE RECALLS TO US OUR CIVIL WAR

IN CONNECTION WITH RESOLUTION PASSED BY SENATE TO GET IRISH VOTE.

DeValera Using Same Words As Jefferson Davis, British Premier Asserts in Commons.

By The Associated Press.
London, March 31.—The United States was handled without gloves by Premier Lloyd George and Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster unionist leader, in the debate today in the house of commons on the second reading of the Irish bill. The premier said it was action such as that taken by the United States Senate in adopting the Irish resolution that had fostered secession.

Mr. Lloyd George said: "I want to say this to our American friends. Mr. DeValera is putting forth the same claim in exactly the same language as Mr. Jefferson Davis, and the ancestors of some of the men who voted for that motion in the senate the other day fought to the death against conceding to the southern states of America the very demand their descendants are supporting for Ireland. The acceptance of that demand we will never concede. It is a demand which, if persisted in, will lead to exactly the same measures of repression as in the southern states of America. We claim nothing more than the United States claimed for themselves and we will stand no less."

This passage was loudly cheered. Premier Lloyd George also attacked the Asquith plan, saying that it was leading to the proclamation of an Irish republic and secession.

William Adams, labor leader, said he was opposed to the bill and that his followers had adhered to his decision in a vote but he did not outline any definite plan for solution. Sir Edward Carson in opening the debate said he believed that the Irish murders were committed "not by my countrymen but by ill-conditioned Americans," misled by Sinn Fein propaganda which he explained, pointing to the government "you are doing nothing to counteract."

"Do you suppose that if I worked against the bill and it was killed and the 1914 act becomes effective, I could call upon my followers to get their rifles to maintain our position in the six Ulster counties when this bill gives us the right to control these counties?" asked Sir Edward Carson.

He declared that Mr. Asquith by his proposals for amending the 1914 measures "killed his own child" which was so distasteful to Ulster. He promised that Ulster would do the best it could under the two-parliament plan.

Some of the men who voted for the Irish self-determination motion in the senate the other day had ancestors who fought to death against conceding to the southern states of America the very demand they are now supporting for Ireland, Premier Lloyd George declared.

CONNECTICUT GOV. WILL NOT CALL LEGISLATURE ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE

By The Associated Press.
Hartford, Conn., March 31.—Governor Holcomb will not call a special session of the general assembly to take action on the woman suffrage amendment to the federal constitution. A delegation of republicans called upon the governor today and presented him the resolution adopted last week requesting him to call the special session.

Major John Buckley, the executive secretary today, on the authority of Governor Holcomb, gave out the following statement: "There will be no formal reply made to the committee's request for a special session. The governor's position continues that no special session will be called."

Safety Supt. Appointed

By The Associated Press.
St. Louis, March 31.—R. Dwyer of Alexandria, Louisiana, has been appointed superintendent of safety for the Missouri Pacific railroad and with headquarters in St. Louis, announced at the general offices of the company here this afternoon. The appointment is effective April 1. He succeeds M. McKernan, assigned to special duties. Mr. Dwyer has been trainmaster of the Lake Charles district of the Missouri Pacific.

PEAK REACHED IN HIGH PRICES BANK REPORTS

EXTRAVAGANCE AND RECKLESS BUYING PERIOD DRAWS NEAR TO ITS END.

Change Will Be So Slow However As To Be Scarcely Appreciable For Present.

By The Associated Press.
Washington, March 31.—Nation-wide reports from federal reserve bank officials, made public tonight, disclose their opinion that the post-war era of "extravagance and reckless buying" by the public is nearing its end.

A hesitation, if not an actual recession, of prices is noted and federal reserve board's statement summarizes its analysis as indicating a generally more hopeful view of the country's business conditions than for several months.

While the price changes were shown by the board not to be universal, they were nevertheless regarded as positive and of importance as a basis for reckoning what the immediate future holds.

Relief from the high prices for the consumer will not be completely obtained until present stocks are absorbed in practically all lines, according to the board's view. Manufacturers everywhere, however, were shown to hold the view that the peak of high prices has been reached and to expect a gradual recession.

Make Old Clothes Last.

In the clothing trade particularly, the board said, there was a marked tendency of the public to make old supplies last longer and to refuse to pay exorbitant prices. This phase can mean only that an awakening has come, the statement said, and that many people have arrived at the conclusion that they are themselves responsible for a continuing high range of prices.

Wholesalers in the dry goods trade to some extent have taken "a commendable attitude" and are discouraging their customers from placing heavy fall orders. That has served to slacken demand and create a feeling that lower prices will follow.

The reports do not give encouragement concerning a price reduction in shoes. There was, however, a wide divergence of opinion as to what shoe and leather prices will do.

Eastern seaboard cities report a "piling up of commodities" on this side of the Atlantic. The exchange situation was beginning to reflect itself on the export market as well as through a general reduction by Europeans in their foreign buying, it was noted.

Opinion Not Uniform

Business and financial developments during March also were marked by confusion and lack of uniformity of opinion, reports from the several reserve districts showed, but throughout the detailed observations of those officials there was a distinctly optimistic tone. Summed up, it was:

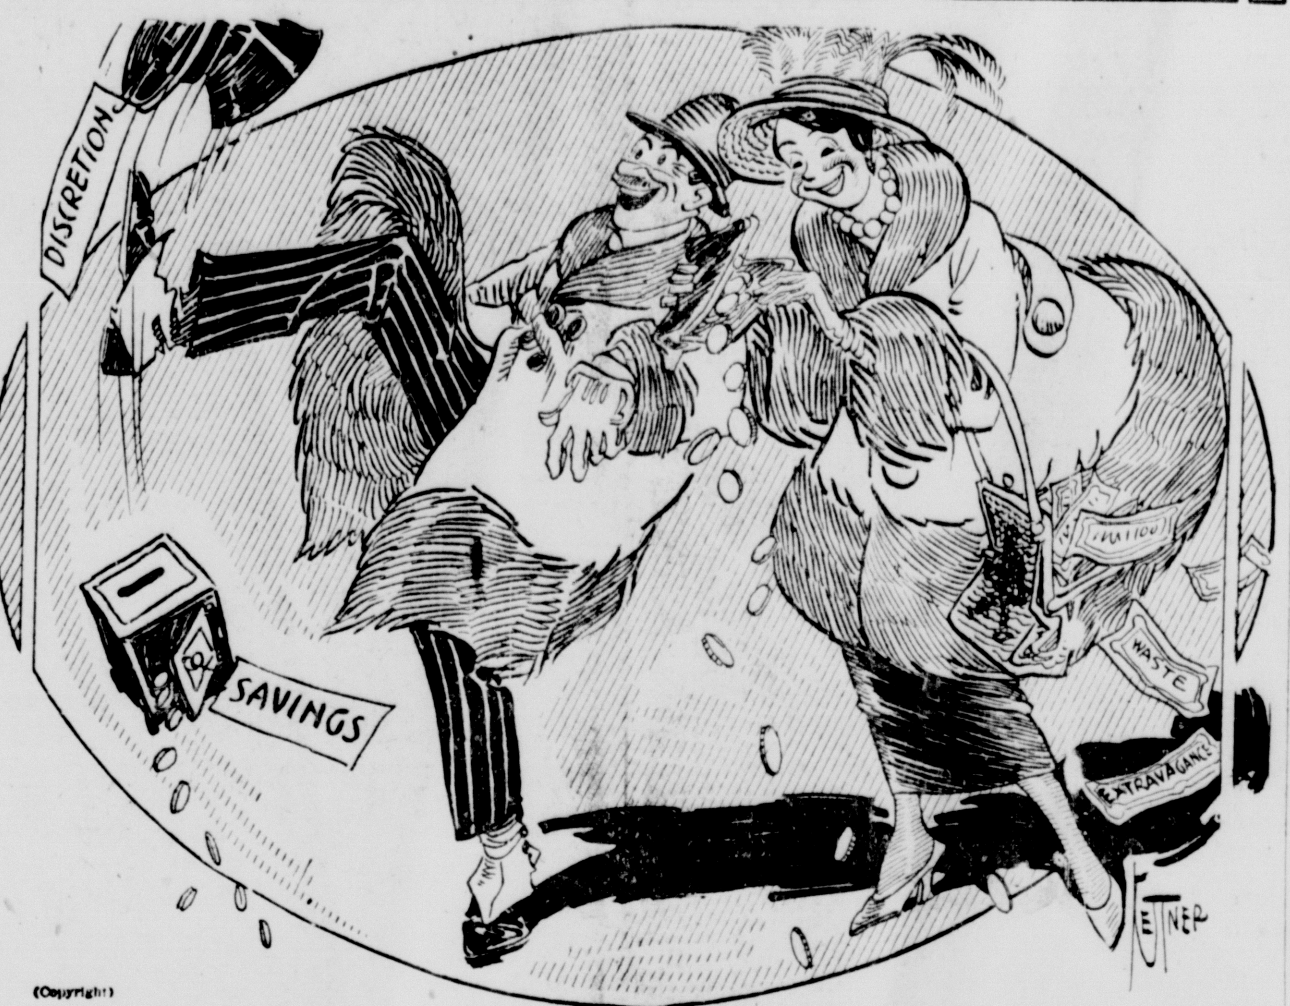

"The outlook for the spring season, both industrially and agriculturally, is excellent. But modifying factors in the situation are inadequacy of labor supply and a shortage of various kinds of building materials, as well as borrowing facilities of banks."

Step in Right Direction.

Officials said that the full meaning of the changed attitude of the public probably would show definite results so slowly as to be almost imperceptible. They explained that it was "a step in the right direction" and that its value was increased because there had been no appreciable letting down in the volume of legitimate business. The housing situation continued acute throughout the country, partly as a result of labor conditions, but more largely because thousands of families are deserting the farms for "what they believe are greater opportunities" in the cities. There was, however, another reason advanced. Capital is slow to engage in new building ventures because of the "unfavorable conditions of taxation." This, of course, applies to general construction as well as to housing in the limited sense, the statement said.

"Production conditions the country over" the statement continued "give every reason for encouragement with reference to actual industrial and agricultural potentialities. The crop outlook so far as can be judged at this season, is hopeful. There is a substantial degree of harmony between capital and labor as indicated by small unemployment."

DANIELS PAID ATTENTION TO SMALL THINGS

ADMIRAL FISK SAYS FORMER NEWSPAPER EDITOR WAS LACKING IN VISION

Did Not Interest Himself In Broad Questions of Plans and Policies of the Navy

By The Associated Press.
Washington, March 31.—The relations of the "mental and temperamental characteristics" of Secretary Daniels to the alleged unpreparedness of the navy for the war in 1917, was discussed today before the senate naval investigating committee by Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, retired, formerly Mr. Daniels' chief advisor in the department as aide for operations. The secretary's characteristics and "previous training," Admiral Fiske said, prevented him from taking "a broad and profound view" of the navy's needs.

Up to 1917, the officer declared, Mr. Daniels seemed convinced that there would never be another war. The witness described at some length his differences with the secretary. While their "personal relations" had been cordial, he said, he had found he could not work with Mr. Daniels and resigned as aide for operations in 1916.

Mr. Daniels, Admiral Fiske said, paid too much attention to details and did not sufficiently interest himself in broad questions of plans and policies. The secretary was particularly solicitous regarding the welfare of the enlisted men, the officer asserted, and naval officers generally felt that he attached undue importance to the comfort of the men and carried his effort to democratize the navy "to an extent inconsistent with discipline."

Secretary Daniels was "deeply and sincerely" interested in the welfare of the men, Admiral Fiske said, adding that he opposed Mr. Daniels' plan for the education of enlisted men, because he thought the system would take too much time from the military training of the crews.

Rear Admiral Mayo who testified yesterday, was asked by Chairman Hale today to prepare an additional statement setting forth his views with regard to the need for a well defined foreign policy as related to naval preparedness and suggestions for the avoidance in future wars of naval mistakes of the world war. He was informed that he would be called before the committee again later.

Rear Admiral William F. Fullam will testify tomorrow.

MISSISSIPPIAN WOULD RATHER GO TO HELL THAN GIVE VOTE TO FEMALES

House Refuses to Join Senate, Drowning Sneakers With Hoots, Jeers and Catcalls

By The Associated Press.
Jackson, Miss., March 31.—With only one state lacking to make the national suffrage amendment effective the Mississippi house of representatives declined today, more than four to one, to reverse its previous action and join the senate in adopting a ratification resolution. The action was final. Under the rules the question cannot be reopened at this session, which ends Saturday.

Voting on a motion to disagree with the senate's resolution approving the amendment the house overwhelmingly refused to sanction the enfranchisement of women although a bill already has been enacted making provisions for women to vote if the amendment becomes effective. The vote on disagreement was 94 to 23 as compared with a previous adverse vote in the house of 106 to 25.

There was no doubt from the first that the house would express decisively its opposition to woman suffrage, despite the appeals of democratic leaders of national prominence that a democratic and not a republican state should be the one to make the amendment effective. Hoots, catcalls and jeers drowned the words of speakers favoring ratification while cheers greeted those opposing. The members yelled for nearly a minute when R. H. Watts of Piscaataway and shouted:

"I would rather die and go to hades than vote for woman suffrage."

When Speaker Connor announced he would instruct the clerk to read telegrams from national democratic leaders urging ratification there was a thunder of objections and put to a vote it was decided almost unanimously not to listen to the messages.

SIXTEEN YEAR OLD GIRL HAS MADE REPUTATION AS REAL KILLER OF MEN

By The Associated Press.
St. Louis, Mo., March 31.—Testimony tending to show that Joseph F. Woodlock lived in constant fear of his wife and step-daughter, Ursula Broderick, 16 years old, was brought out in juvenile court here today at the girl's trial on a charge of first degree murder for killing Woodlock April 14, last.

The girl, who four years ago killed her father, Thomas P. Broderick, in defense of her mother, today again came to the mother's assistance.

STOP TRADING STUTZ MOTORS WENT TOO HIGH

ACTION WITHOUT PRECEDENT IN ANNALS OF NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

Believed Movement Was Engineered To Squeeze Steel Man Who Sold the Stock Short

By The Associated Press.
New York, March 31.—Further dealings in Stutz motor shares, one of the recent features of the stock exchange, were temporarily suspended by special act of the governors of the exchange after the close of today's session.

This applies not only to trading on the floor of the exchange but also to private transactions between members outside of the exchange and as without precedent in the history of the institution. Officials of the stock exchange declined to explain or in any way amplify the action of the governing committee, which confined its statement to the bare announcement that further trading would be suspended.

Stutz has been the most conspicuous stock of the last few weeks, rising from 125 1/2, its final price on March 6, to 391 at the close of today's trading. The advance has been steady at daily gains of 10 to almost 30 points.

Approximately 110,000 shares have changed hands on the rise, or about 10,000 shares more than the entire issue. This is not unusual in itself as many active stocks are turned over several times in excess of the total issue during an active period running into several weeks or more.

Stutz is said to be controlled by Allan A. Ryan, head of the banking house of A. A. Ryan and Company. Mr. Ryan is president of the company and active in its management. No statement was obtainable from the Ryan interests other than that they knew nothing of any attempt to "corner the stock" which they said had been available for buying or loaning purposes throughout its advance.

Stock exchange gossip has associated the sensational rise of Stutz with reports that a prominent steel man went heavily "short" of the stock some 200 points under today's record quotation, and that he was being "squeezed" by those in control of the property.

There were other rumors that Stutz and several motor specialties dominated by Ryan and his friends were to be taken into a huge consolidation of motor interests in process of organization by one of the leading automobile companies of the country.

LANSING GOES INTO THE PRACTICE OF WORLD LAW

By The Associated Press.
Washington, March 31.—Former Secretary Lansing and Lester H. Woolsey, who surrendered today his post as solicitor of the state department, have formed a partnership for the practice of international law. They were associated in the department from the time Mr. Lansing became counsel under Secretary Bryan until his resignation.

REPUBLICANS IN HOUSE TRYING TO BRING PEACE STATUS BY RESOLUTION

Would Give Germany Forty - Five Days In Which To Do Likewise--Democrats Demand More Time To Study The Proposition TO THE PUBLIC

Under the terms of the sale to the North Texas Publishing company, which I announced a few days ago, this is the last issue of The Paris Morning News to be published by me. Beginning today the business is in charge of its new owners who will continue the publication. To say that I wish the paper the largest measure of success is but to tell the simple truth, for I do indeed wish it. The Morning News, though I no longer own it, is still very near my heart and its growth and prosperity will always be watched by me with more than ordinary interest. I am sure the people of Paris, who for so long have stood by The Morning News, will give the paper under its new owners even more liberal support than they gave me and with that to urge it on the paper cannot help but be all that it should.

To say to my friends, who have done business with me and encouraged me at times when I needed counsel, that I regret severing those pleasant relations is to express my feelings only in the smallest degree, yet it is needless to use more words for none may be found to make the statement more forceful or more real. What my future may be I do not know but I do know that there are in Paris and Lamar county, and in the country round about, thousands of men and women whom I am proud to have for my friends and whose friendship I am sure I still hold and shall hope to continue to hold, whatever may befall me.

The business arrangements of the sale provide that all accounts owed by The Morning News previous to April 1 shall be paid by me and that all sums due to The Morning News at that date are payable to me. I will thank my friends for their attention to this as I hope to wind up my business affairs in connection with The Morning News as quickly as possible.

Respectfully,
SAYERS BOYD.

Washington, March 31.—Peace with Germany through adoption of a joint resolution declaring the war at an end was put squarely before congress today by republicans in control of the house.

Framed by republican members of the foreign affairs committee and backed by party leaders, the measure was thrown into the hopper with as little ceremony as if it had been a bridge bill, but instantly there developed a demand for speedy action. A move to jam it through the house Friday took shape but democrats, outspoken in their opposition, obtained an agreement to postpone consideration until Monday.

While trying to work out a resolution calculated to suit all factions of their party republican committee-men had arranged to call it up Friday, remembering that it was on Good Friday three years ago that war was declared.

Germany Must Waive Claims.
The resolution, introduced by Chairman Porter of the foreign affairs committee, provides for "termination of a state of war," as soon as it becomes effective. It provides also for reciprocal trading with Germany under certain restrictions and for repeal of the president's war powers. Germany would be allowed 45 days to notify the president that it has declared a termination of war, and waived all claims against the United States ratified the treaty of Versailles.

Upon Germany's failure to send such notification, trading, or the making of loans or credits, would be prohibited except with the license of the president.

Republican members of the foreign affairs committee, to which the resolution was referred without comment, worked in conference for more than five hours before they mapped out a measure designed to overcome all party objections. The committee will meet tomorrow and is expected to report it to the house.

Leaders declared the republicans would vote solidly for the resolution which they held should meet the approval of the state department since it did not declare peace but simply an end to an existing state of war.

Says Wilson Will Veto.
Democrats, on the other hand, contended that termination of the war rested solely with the executive branch of the government. The certainty of a presidential veto was pointed out by Chairman Porter predicted that, in that event there would be no difficulty in obtaining the necessary two-thirds vote to pass it over the veto.

After Chairman Campbell of the rules committee had announced that the resolution would be taken up Friday, with four hours set aside for debate, democrats who had asked for more time in which to study and digest the full text. This resulted in a hasty conference between the republican steering committee and minority leaders, it finally being agreed to defer consideration in the house until Monday.

The resolution provides: "Whereas, the president of the United States in the performance of his constitutional duty to give to congress the information of the state of the union has advised congress that the war with the imperial German government has ended, resolved by the senate and the house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled, that the state of war declared to exist between the imperial German government and the people of the United States, by a joint resolution of congress approved April 6 1917, is hereby declared at an end."

"Section 2. That in the interpretation of any provision relating to the date of the termination of the present war or of the present or existing emergency, any acts of congress, joint resolutions or proclamations of the president containing provisions contingent upon the date of the termination of the war or of the present or existing emergency, the date when this resolution became effective shall be construed and treated as the date of the termination of the war or of the present or existing emergency notwithstanding any provision in any act of congress or joint resolution providing any other mode of determination of the date of the termination of the war or of the present or existing emergency."

"Section 3. That with a view to securing reciprocal trade with the German government and its nations and for this purpose it is hereby provided that unless within forty-five days from the date when this resolution becomes effective the German government shall duly notify the president of the United States that it has declared a termination of the war with the United States and that it has waived all claims against the United States, the president shall, on the day when this resolution becomes effective, declare a termination of the war with the United States and that it has waived all claims against the United States."

WALL STREET'S FRIEND.

If Texans are not "fed up" on jolts and conspicuous statements during the present campaign in Texas the fault or failure cannot be imputed to Mr. Bailey. The Federal Reserve Act has been accepted with rare unanimity as one of the most substantial evidences of real constructive legislation placed upon the statute books by the democratic party. Even the republican party has never attempted to decry this categorically, their answer always being in the nature of a confession in avoidance. That is to say, they have contended that the Federal Reserve Act was beneficial, far reaching and important as real constructive legislation, yet the democrats, they say, had stolen the fundamentals from the Aldrich bill which was pending when the democrats came into power under Mr. Wilson. The chief opposition to the Federal Reserve Act came from Wall Street. The reason for this opposition was easily apparent. New York was the money center of the country, Wall Street enjoyed the powers and prerogatives of a real money trust. This money trust, so to speak, was administered by private individuals for their financial benefit. They were the absolute dictators of the money market. Currency could be contracted the moment they so desired. A panic could be pulled off whenever it might appear to their advantage to have one. There are a thousand cogent reasons why Wall Street was concerned and passage of such a measure was seemingly impossible by the republicans because of their sympathetic harmony with the Wall Street bankers. It was only possible under a democratic congress and president who came fresh from the people with such a demand upon them. This act came into existence in the very nick of time. Widespread distress and wild disorder would have reigned without it. Under the great system it is confidently believed that panic in the sense in which they have heretofore been known is no longer possible. The war could not have been financed without this or a similar act. It is not only a great piece of constructive legislation but it is justly the pride of the democratic party.

Only Mr. Bailey has found fault. "One of the good things about the currency bill," he says, "is that it renders a panic impossible as long as the banks don't want a panic." Then he adds, "It gives the banks of this country absolute control of the volume of currency. They can shrink or expand it at will, which is a dangerous power in the hands of the bankers." These utterances were made to an audience composed largely of farmers, his purpose being to prejudice them against banks in general as well as the democratic party. Few should know better than Mr. Bailey the fallacy of his teaching expressed in these statements. His first objection is that the Federal Reserve Act is Mr. Wilson's bill. That it gives the bankers of this country a dangerous power. He does not say that he himself would prefer to have these powers left in the hands of private individuals in Wall Street. He knows his audience of farmers would laugh in his face. Neither does he anywhere refer to the fact that the Federal Reserve Act is simply a currency agency of the government. That it is dominated, officered and controlled by the government. No sane man will for one moment believe the money sharks of Wall Street would administer our currency affairs more pat-than a government control agency. Every sympathetic impulse of Mr. Bailey seems indeed to be with selfish interests. Those who have followed him most loyally in the past can now appreciate the change which has come over him most noticeably.

Frankness is a virtue which should be practiced by every statesman. When former Senator Bailey attacked the Daylight Saving law in his Garland speech he appears in a most pitiful role. His contentions that it was taken up by congress simply as an English fad is insincere. If he really does not understand the reasons which prompted its passage during the war, he should inform himself before he undertakes to criticize it. If he does not know that it has been repealed since the war ended he is indeed far behind the procession. However this is not unusual for Mr. Bailey; he certainly faces the stragglers and the rear guard in every procession with which he undertakes to march. He knows, or at least should know, that even during war times no one following agricultural or kindred pursuits was penalized or coerced in any way into observing the provisions of the law; more than that, his inferential criticism of the national congress for its passage is a reflection upon a body of men every one of whom is as conspicuous for patriotism as he is.

The recent heavy rains should impress a very important lesson upon the farmers of Lamar county. Few are so wanting in powers of observation as not to appreciate the need if indeed we may not say the absolute necessity for much important work in ditching and terracing. New resolutions to provide these are now being made by the thousand but how many will be faithfully kept?

The rains descended and the floods came. A good season was much needed—but a superabundance even of a good thing is often very harmful. Much of the farm work which has been done this spring will now have to be done over and with a greater degree of haste if the moisture in the soil is properly conserved. A good seed bed and well selected seed are indispensable if profitable results are to be achieved.

The use of scrub sires and scrub seed is the first distinctive step toward failure in farm production and prosperity. Sowing and reaping are inseparably connected. If you sow scrubs whether in fields, flocks or herds you will most certainly reap degenerates. No amount of care or tillage will develop a scrub plant or animal into a thoroughbred.

BACK TALK

Neighbors' Day.

Just before former secretary Franklin P. Lane retired from office he issued a call to state governors and influential organizations to attend a conference in Washington during the week of March 22 and arrange for the celebration of Flag Day next June as "Neighbors' Day." Mr. Lane feels that the people of the United States are drifting away from neighborliness—that we are not keeping up our community life as we should.—Beaumont Enterprise.

Wouldn't it be great if we could get back to neighborliness? We have gone far from it. We have given our hearts and our thoughts to the great marts of trade; we have bruised our feet and wearied our legs in the great rush for gain. Life has become a cold commercialism, with each day but a return to yesterday's routine. There has been no time to be neighborly. To say such a thing is to convict one's self of fogginess, and yet Back Talk believes we would be happier and better if we would go back to the customs of the fathers and mothers in the matters of "neighborliness." There'd be fewer cases of heart disease and insanity if we would sit with neighbors from twilight to bed-time, and occasionally spend the night. There'd be many big laughs if some good father and mother should gather up their brood and go to a neighbor's and spend the night, but as sure as fate we lost much that ministers to our better parts—lost much of that which makes life worth the living when we lost the good old custom of neighborliness. I sincerely hope Mr. Lane will succeed in restoring neighborliness and that the people of our land may see a return of the good old days when hearts were known to hearts and souls with souls communed.

THE PARIS NEWCOMER

April First.

The first thing of importance in the city today is the April Fool tea given at the first ward school building for the benefit of the school library which up to date has been conspicuous by its absence. If you belong to the First Ward school district, of course you will be there, whether you have children in the school or not. If you do not belong to the school district you will not only be welcomed but you will undoubtedly be given an afternoon that you will not soon forget.

Good Friday.

Mrs. Neville Brook's Circle of the ladies of the First M. E. church are giving their bazaar and tea tomorrow afternoon at her home on Richmond street. This will probably be the last of a series of very successful church teas. Mrs. Brooks and her workers are very much hoping that the numerous teas that have been held will not interfere with the success of this last one. I hope so too and I do not believe that it will. There are to be all kinds of articles on sale and you may be able to pick up that last touch to your Easter outfit at this affair.

Follivanna.

What could be more affecting than the story of the dedicated emotions of the people with whom Follivanna's spirit of gladness came into contact. Under the ordinary picture show conditions this story is a sermon picture. Its power is even greater when taken out of this environment and given a place in a real religious service, as was done Sunday afternoon at the Grand theatre.

There have been for three successive weeks pictures of the kind that especially appeal to children. For this reason the children are asked to stay away next Sunday so that the old people may have a better opportunity to see the "Miracle Man" which is brought here as an especially appropriate picture.

While the "Miracle Man" is a picture that is not inappropriate for the children it is nevertheless adapted especially to the understanding of the adult, and since the capacity of the house is limited to a much smaller number of adults than will care to see this picture, and the children have been so well taken care of in previous Sundays, this is a denial I asked of them for this occasion.

The Baptist Concert.

I regret very much that the impossibility of printing a larger sheet just now should combine with a number of other causes to prevent the handing fully of some occasions that be all means are entitled to a good deal of publicity. One of these occasions was the splendid Easter concert given Sunday evening by the Baptist church choir. I attended the concert expecting to give it a full account. I had no idea that the spasm into which the definite announcement of Mr. Kendall's acceptance of the Chas. Hall would throw the beautiful Easter music furnished that night into the background, and but if Rev. Kendall says with them I suppose the facts will be changing news as a daily performance and there will be plenty of opportunity to make up for the omission. That was a very inspiring concert and I hope they will do it often.

The H-Jern Deborah.

I guess the Baptist deacons are all reconciled to the justice of the flaying that Mrs. Hammond gave them at their meeting when she arraigned the church as before a court of justice for sitting down on their laurels and what should be done, then indeed it is funny when man makes a fool of himself. Man is supposed to be an intelligent being, and intelligent beings are supposed to move and act under the direction of intelligence, and as a rule they do. The great majority of men put in fully ninety-five per cent of their time behaving themselves. They go about their daily tasks in a dignified way, rejoicing when fortune favors them and meeting the little vexations and disappointments of life as intelligent beings should. At such times the Creator of man can look upon the work of His hand without shamefacedness or regret, for man is a rather decent animal. But occasionally man puts on a stunt. Possibly he mashes his finger; it may be that a piece of machinery doesn't work; another man perhaps has said something that doesn't strike his ear just right; an attack may have been made on his party or candidate, and some other man may have received smiles from his lady love and man goes on a tare. Behold him as he puts on a whirling dervish stunt.

Never would you dream that he is something that was made in the image of his Creator; never could one who didn't know be made to believe that he is a creature of intelligence, as man the fool goes through his program of mental contortions and physical gyrations. There is relief for the man who has made a forty-horse power fool of himself if he can find somebody to talk to. The friend will palliate his feelings somewhat by saying he was not altogether to blame, and perhaps by reciting the fact that all men lose their heads occasionally. Man can work himself into a better state, if he can find some one to listen while he pours out his regrets and justifies himself by calling attention to his better traits, but the most awful feeling that ever comes over man is when, after playing the star role of fool, allowing their leader to faint by the wayside for want of proper support. Come back with which this howled body got into the job is enough to cheer the heart of any discouraged man. I am sorry I did not have a front seat when the performance went on. I am told that Mrs. Hammond's speech went something like this:

"You all don't know what manner of man is that you are letting slip away from us. Why he's been our pastor for thirteen years. He's been the real leader of this church all this time. He's married a he's christened our babies, he's buried our loved ones. In every trouble he's been right beside us to help us over. And now we are letting him slip away from us because he's been out of the city. He just needs our help and we are letting him go."

"Beside, you can call a preacher, but you can't call a preacher's wife. Here Mrs. Kendall has been with us all these years. When we've been ready to fight each other she has come and things over when brother Kendall has made a mess of things she has been on the ground to help him out. How are we going to get some one else to take her place?"

"You can't call a preacher's sons either. Look at those boys that have grown up among us. Aren't you proud of them?"

"Why do you know that many preachers' sons are a disgrace to the church and to the community. Look at those prize winners we have here among us."

And so on and on until everybody in the house was aroused to a sense of what was slipping from them and to a hope that perhaps if they could pinch themselves vigorously enough they would get far enough awake to avert the catastrophe. It will be averted or I am no prophet.

The Lamar Club.

The Lamar club held their annual party and election of officers yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. E. Osborn of 294 Clarksville avenue. During the annual business meeting the following officers were elected:

President, Mrs. Stafford; vice president, Mrs. Elbert Goolbsy; secretary and treasurer, Mr. Robertson; reporter, Mrs. F. W. Ramsey; parliamentarian, Mrs. Stark.

At the close of the business meeting the ladies spent the afternoon in playing forty-two. Mrs. C. J. Pollock, Mrs. J. P. Stafford and Mrs. M. F. Ramsey played high scores.

A delicious luncheon of sandwiches, olives, ice cream and cake was served by the hostess. On each plate lay a beautiful jengail, the club flower and the club color, which was carried out in the yellow ice cream served with whipped cream and yellow cake with white icing.

Twenty-nine members were present at this meeting.

During the business meeting the club which has the past year been studying the chautauqua course, decided to take up the Bay View course for the coming year. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. F. W. Ramsey.

Just the Thing!

After I had spoken a few words yesterday afternoon to the Lamar club about the coming child, I felt I had answered some questions concerning it, one little question came over to me and told me of a friend of mine who was a beautiful child who was apparently perfectly healthy and normal. This friend she said had thought she would like to bring her little one to the clinic just to have the child gone we must sit down by himself and think over what he has done.

Hair Cuts.

It is said the dollar haircut is on the way, which reminds us that in our juvenile days, shearing was done at home. But so was shining, patching and other things like that, and the schoolmaster helped with the switching.—Houston Post.

George Bailey, the Houston Post writer, will live in the past, in spite of Progressive Democracy and a thousand forward movements. When the barbers advance the price of hair-cuts, he goes back to the good old days when one of the neighbors, or his mother, shingled his tresses for nothing and counted it a high honor to wield the scissors. To be the best hair-shingler in the community was next to the highest honor that could come to man, and was second only to that of being the best fiddler. But why remind us of these things—like John Barleycorn, they have gone to return no more. But reform is needed in the matter of hair-cutting, and if the tontorial artists will not give the people relief, Congress should be appealed to. The barbers are charging as much for removing a pennyweight of hair as for removing a pound of the hirsute adornment, which is neither right nor fair. Flat rates no longer obtain in the buying and selling of other things and it works a great injustice to the bald-headed man to maintain a flat rate on hair-cutting. Put hair-cutting on the meter basis and charge so much an ounce for the crop of hair that is removed. Under the meter system the man who has a soft head and grows wool like a Russian will have to pay two or three dollars for the clip, while the man who has a better idea of the proprieties and appearances, and carries a neatly polished dome of thought, will not be out more than a dime.

over. That is just the thing we are trying to get all mothers to do. Come on, mothers. It may be that we will have so many children come that we will have to prolong this clinic through the week and then follow it by a weekly clinic. No matter how healthy your child is it will be for his own good for you to have his welfare consciously in mind. This is not a clinic for sick children, though frail children and sick children who have no communicable disease are asked to come. Special visits will be made to children who have communicable diseases though they can not be brought where they will expose other children. Parents who can not get to the clinic otherwise will be taken by automobile.

Child Welfare Sunday.

The child welfare association has been asked to celebrate Sunday, April 11 as child welfare Sunday by choosing for that day a sermon that will especially draw attention of their congregations to the needs of the children. The drug stores and all the dry goods stores that carry children's garments will draw attention to the children's stocks through window displays. A film is on the way to be shown in the showing of this. In fact I believe we are going to have a most profitable week of it, and I most certainly hope that a permanent weekly clinic will be the result of the first effort of the State University to put this work on in our midst.

Friday Night Sars.

And you mothers of the Athletic club must not overlook the fact that your sons have been counting for weeks on this as the night when they would be ready to do those stunts at the high school gymnasium in the presence of mother and her friends. This is the family night and if you will keep the tris mother dear you will learn some surprising things about that gentle lamb of yours and you will know why he talks nothing but wrestling and boxing and setting up exercises morning noon and night.

and when you get a good view of the tense muscles that some of these olden lads have been developing then you will not wonder that your boy sandwiches a muscular conversation in between each shovel of food he stores into his cavernous depths. You will understand too why he gets so restless when you talk to him about such unimportant matters as dirty rubbers, coat hangers and a lot of other trash. It will do you as much good as it does him to watch the rascals Friday night.

Little Grace Garman.

Has an unbounded faith in prayer and well she has a right to. Grace you knew is the little daughter of Rev. Garman, Pastor of the Congregational church. She is not very big in fact the contrary quite tiny; but that does not make her prayers less weighty nor prevent her from taking complete charge of the immense loving cup which taken came to her by virtue of her industry and her prayers after she decided to enter the contest for prizes for best essays in the ward school on the subject of the benefit on army enlistment.

Little Grace believes in the efficacy of prayer as firmly as she believes in the value of work. For one solid week before she wrote the essay she made full use of her intercessory privileges and had her family warned to pray for her the day she wrote the prize winner of the fourth grade. She won the cup donated by the Williams-Coffey Drug Store.

This Afternoon.

Will be held the regular meeting of the Civic League at the Chamber of Commerce. Miss Chaudlers plan for the five memorial fountain will be laid before the Civic League as it was before the joint committees Tuesday evening. The model fountain will be on exhibition as well as some photographs of some of Miss Chaudlers Dallas work. Every member of the Civic League should be present.

Will Banquet Wednesday.

The advertising department of the chamber of commerce will treat themselve to a quiet next Wednesday evening. Time? Seven o'clock. The place? To be decided. The girl? She'll not be there. This is a stag, and a celebration of that successful feeling that rests with every member of the department, which makes him proud that he belonged to the bunch that put the anniversary edition over the top. The letters are still pouring in from all parts of the country praising the exploits of Paris and complimenting the men upon the character of the edition which has told its story.

A committee was appointed today consisting of Brown Alexander, C. F. House and M. E. Griffiths whose duty it will be to examine the proposition of advertising agents and pass upon the legitimacy of the projects to interview men are given permission to save the time of the busy merchants. A man who has a worth while proposition will be given a card by this committee which will be a letter of recommendation and introduction to the merchants of the city.

When this committee gets its ma-

GOOD ROAD MEETING HELD AT FOREST HILL

Messrs. J. R. O'Connor and F. M. Gorman of Petty who were in the city yesterday, reported that there was a road meeting of farmers and citizens of that place and Forest Hill and Tigertown Tuesday night at Forest Hill for the purpose of building a good road from Petty north to Tigertown and probably thence north to Direct or some other point on the river. It was decided to establish a permanent good road by constructing a turnpike, the money for the building of which to be raised by taxation in the form of a bond issue, or in some other way.

It is proposed to embrace within the road improvement district a strip four or five miles wide with the Faan county line as the western boundary. The road that is proposed to be converted into a turnpike is the old Petty and Tigertown road. It runs nearly through the center of the proposed four miles strip. There may have to be some minor changes in it.

WHAT INTERNAL BATHING HAS DONE FOR E. H. WISCHE OF NEW ORLEANS

E. H. Wischen of 930 N. Gayoso St., New Orleans, La., writes Tyrrell's Hygienic Institute of New York, as follows:

"As to what the Cascade has done for me, I can say that I suffered with my stomach a long time. After running from one doctor to another and after consulting at least twenty doctors of my city, all with the exception of one of them wanted to operate on me. I was so sick that I even went to Hot Springs, Ark., but got no relief, so at last I made up my mind to use the Cascade as you instructed and I went along using it for at least one year, since then I have had no use for drugs at all. It is about three years ago that I started, since then I have not spent a cent for drugs and I feel a little out of the way or have a cold, or headache, I just fall back on it and it never goes back on me. I would not part with it for any amount of money."

The "J. B. L. Cascade" cleanses the lower intestine its entire length and keeps it always free from poisonous waste.

Thousands testify that Constipation, Indigestion, Stomach Troubles, Biliousness, Headaches and all the many troubles which they cause are absolutely relieved and prevented by this Nature Treatment.

R. J. Murphy will be glad to show you the "J. B. L. Cascade," explain its simple operation and will give you, free on request, an interesting little book by Dr. Charles A. Tyrrell of New York, a noted specialist on Internal Bathing for 25 years in that city. Clip this out as a reminder to ask for the booklet at your first opportunity.

HAD NARROW CALL BUT LUCK WAS WITH HIM

Yesterday came near being J. W. Crook's unlucky day. In the first place while he and Phil Spears were at the courthouse they went to ascend the elevator. When he opened the door he thought the cage was there—otherwise it would not have opened—but for some reason the door opened without the cage being in place. Just as he was about to step into the open space where the elevator should have been he saw the cage was not there and caught himself in time to avoid overbalancing and falling down the hole.

Accident No. 2 occurred while he was coming home in the rain in an automobile from Brookston. Mr. Spears happened to be with him on the occasion. They met a doctor from Roxton, who was supposed to be answering a call, a she was going at a pretty lively clip. Just before he reached him his car skidded and tumbled with them after forcing them out of the road. Both machines were damaged a little but were not knocked out of commission.

Mr. Crook stated that accident No. 3 was the real thrill. While coming down Bonham street in West Paris he went to turn around a wood wagon that was in the middle of the road. His automobile skidded and made a complete about face just as a West Paris motor bus came along. If the chauffeur of the bus hadn't shown quick presence of mind and killed his engine Mr. Crook would have been struck broadside and there would have been a serious accident.

ASK THAT PUBLISHING SOCIETY BE DECLARED PART OF MOTHER CHURCH

By The Associated Press

Boston, March 31.—A bill in equity filed in the Massachusetts supreme court today by Mrs. Daisy Lovering Krauthoff and Edwin A. Krauthoff, as members of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, petitioned the court to decree the Christian Science publishing society an integral part of the mother church and to uphold the church manual, the system of government of the mother church as established by Mary Baker Eddy and the activities thereof founded by her.

The bill further petitions that the case be heard in connection with the case of the trustees of the publishing society against the directors of the mother church; that no decree be entered in the latter suit on confirming the recent finding of Judge Dodge as master in favor of the trustees until this suit has been heard, and that the decree be then entered concurrently.

Among defendants, which include the church itself, the directors of the church, the trustees of the publishing society and several officers and former officers of the church, is J. Weston Allen, attorney general of Massachusetts. It was explained that he was named in anticipation that the findings of Judge Dodge as master in the suit of the trustees and of the publishing society against the directors of the mother church might be confirmed.

DELAWARE SUFFRAGE LEADER POSTPONES THE VOTE ON THE MEASURE

Dover, Del., March 31.—The Delaware house of representatives today failed to take a vote on the woman suffrage federal constitutional amendment. Plans had been made for a vote today but when the house met the sponsor of the house resolution, Representative Hart, democrat, said certain things had happened since it was first decided to take a vote and he was not ready to call it up. There was a great confusion on the floor and among the spectators when it was realized that a vote would not be taken and the anti-suffragist members demanded that the resolution be called up at once. Hart, however, refused to do so and left the chamber.

Efforts to suspend the rules and force a vote on a similar resolution without the consent of its sponsor were successful.

It was reported about the state house that a private bill of the members of the house showed that the suffrage resolution lacked three votes and that it has a majority of one in the senate. Many of the members refused to state publicly how they stand on the question prior to the taking of the vote. The house has a membership of 35 and the senate 17.

ARKANSAS RIVER HIGH AT PINE BLUFF BUT NO FEAR THERE OF FLOOD

Pine Bluff, Ark., March 31.—The Arkansas river reached a stand here today at 23.8 feet, which is 1.2 under the flood stage. An inch of rain fell here today continuing intermittently from dawn until 6 o'clock tonight. Water is within three feet of the top of the levees near Cummings, 40 miles below Pine Bluff, but they are holding and no anxiety is felt by officials of the penitentiary farm located there. It would take an additional ten feet of water to top the levees here.

GENERAL SIMMS HANGED TO BRANCH OF TREE AND APPARENTLY SUICIDE

Asheville, N. C. March 31.—County authorities reported tonight that they had cut down the body of General Richard D. Simms, aged 52, of Washington, D. C., a patient at a local sanitarium, from a roadside tree where it had been found hanging some hours after life was extinct. General Simms' horse was found nearby and officials said he had apparently ridden under the tree, knotted the rope around his neck, tied the other end to a limb and then spurred his horse out from under him.

MUTUAL MISTAKE WAS FATAL ON TEXAS BORDER

Marion, Ga., March 31.—Harold Halstead, former army officer who returned from Siberia a month ago, has been shot and killed by custom officers near Fort Hancock, Texas, according to a message received here tonight by Miss Zilla Halstead, his sister, who is a teacher at Wesleyan College here. Halstead was inspecting his land holdings, the message stated, and was mistaken for a liquor smuggler when he, with his business associates, believing the officers were Mexican bandits, attempted to escape.

Senator Owen says he will "gladly request those in charge of his campaign to make a sworn statement of expenditures together with a list of the contributors and furnish same to the press." The senator also says he will join in an appeal to congress for legislation compelling candidates to make sworn returns on expenditures.

YOUNG MEN FROM HUGO
GET INTO TROUBLE

Sheriff Clarkson went out west of the city on the Tigertown road a little before noon yesterday to serve some civil process, and County Attorney Eubank accompanied him to make an investigation of a criminal offense alleged to have been committed. As they were going along the road near the Cedar Hill negro settlement they drove near a negro house where two young white girls had gone to see about getting some washing done.

Three young white fellows, who, as it afterward was shown, were from Hugo, had stopped in front of the negro cabin and were talking to the white girls. They appeared to be drinking and one of the young men shouted at the sheriff and county attorney, not knowing that they were officers. The officers saw that they were drinking, but didn't stop to talk to them. They recognized the girls with whom they were talking, however, and after having attended to the business that had called them to the country they drove back to the place where the girls were stopping and questioned them as to who the men were.

The girls informed them that they were from Hugo and stated that they had whisky. They were arrested on the road before they reached the city, and a full quart of whisky was found in their possession. When they learned that Sheriff Clarkson was an

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. For 17 years he used these tablets (a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil) in his private practice with great success.

They do all the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. No pains, no griping, no injury to the gums or danger from acid foods—yet they stimulate the liver and bowels. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." Note how they clear clouded brain and perk up the spirits. 10c and 25c a box.

Miss Dora Griffin of Bogata, who has been visiting home, spent last night in Paris on her way back to Denton, where she is attending school. Her father, W. S. Griffin, accompanied her this far.

officer, and as soon as they were placed under arrest they smashed the quart of whisky, thinking that it would relieve them of prosecution. They were carried to the courthouse, and after an investigation complaints were lodged against all three charging them with having liquor in their possession and with introducing liquor. They waived preliminary examination before Justice of the Peace Jay Hall, who fixed their bonds at $750 each. Habeas corpus proceedings were at once instituted before Judge Dohoney to have the bonds reduced. By agreement between the district attorney and the attorney for the defendants the bonds were reduced to $500 in each case.

BOY'S ATHLETIC CLUB GIVES EXHIBITION FOR PARENTS TOMORROW EVE

All mothers and friends are invited to meet the Boy's Athletic Club tomorrow night at the High school gymnasium. The boys have for weeks been counting on this evening as the star evening of the year's work. They have planned to give this exhibition before the hot weather should break up all indoor work.

The boys have accomplished a great deal under the leadership of the young men who have been building up this group as a preparatory group for the full organization of the scout movement.

A couple of weeks ago they exhibited before the members of the Rotary club and last Friday Mr. L. W. Dawley, president of the Rotary, visited again and announced that members of the Athletic Association were to be given a luncheon by the Rotarians. The boys are to be taken in groups and the groups winning the wrestling contests are chosen each week. Six winners will lunch with the Rotarians Friday noon.

Rev. Kendall has been asked to talk to the boys Friday evening. He will speak to them not upon direct religious subjects but upon the elements that make for true manhood.

How Diphtheria is Contracted

One often hears the expression "My child caught a severe cold when developed into diphtheria," when the truth is that the cold had simply left the little one particularly susceptible to the wandering diphtheria germ. If your child has a cold when diphtheria is prevalent you should take him out of school and keep him off the street until fully recovered, as there is a hundred times more danger of his taking diphtheria when he has a cold. When Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given it quickly cures the cold and lessens the danger of diphtheria or any other germ disease being contracted.

GAINED EXPERIENCE IN LEARNING TO DRIVE

While Mrs. J. T. Locklear was learning to drive a new automobile last Monday evening on the Pine Mill road near the baseball park she was taught a lesson in turning by a little rough experience. The machine was going at a pretty good speed and when she went to turn she veered around too quick, as the result of which the momentum drove it in a water hole about waist deep. The left front wheel was broken, the fender bent, and one of the children was pitched out in the water. The automobile was left in the ditch until the next morning, when Mr. Locklear and some of his neighbors jacked it up and put a wheel on, after which it was pulled out with a team.

After a long winter the system becomes filled with impurities caused by dry strong diet. In hot weather these impurities cause sickness. Get rid of them now by taking Prickly Ash Bitters. It will purify the liver and bowels and put the body in shape for summer work. Price $1.25 per bottle. R. J. Murphy, special agent.

MARTENS NATIONALITY APPEARS GERMAN SO HE MAY GET DEPORTATION

By The Associated Press

Washington, March 30.—Ludwig Martens, Russian soviet agent in the United States, is a German subject and should be deported to Germany, according to contentions of the department of justice in a brief to be submitted to immigration authorities tomorrow.

The government's case against Martens, made public by Assistant Attorney General Carven tonight, claimed to establish "conclusively" his connection with the Russian Communists and his activity in the promotion of an organization shown to seek the overthrow of the United States government by force.

While it remains for the bureau of immigration to dispose of the case, officials declared tonight despite Martens' "credentials" they would attempt to have him sent back to Germany from which country his parents emigrated to Russia and where Martens twice refused citizenship papers.

Decision of the government to list Martens as a German subject was reached primarily on the ground that when he registered with London authorities early in the war he claimed himself as a German subject. Secret service investigation also disclosed that while in England, Martens continued as an active member of the Russian workmen's socialist democratic party which has become the communist group under the leadership of Lenin and Trotsky.

BORAH DECLARES THAT HE IS FOR JOHNSON

By The Associated Press

Saginaw, Mich., March 31.—"I am for Johnson because he is four-square to all the winds that blow, because he is his own master at all times and because not even his bitterest enemies have ever dared to deny it," declared Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, in an address before a large audience here tonight.

Referring to the candidacy of Herbert Hoover he declared that in the November elections a man will have to be either for or against the league and that the country will not tolerate any candidate who "straddles the fence."

In an interview Wednesday afternoon Senator Borah again scored the campaign expenditures of General Leonard Wood, Frank O. Lowden and their campaign managers declaring that the record being established in the campaigns of these two men is more than the republican party can bear.

SENATOR JOHNSON SAYS THERE IS PLACE FOR THE WOMEN IN OUR POLITICS

By The Associated Press

New York, March 31.—Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California, speaking here tonight in the interest of his campaign for the republican presidential nomination, appealed to the women to meet the obligation of citizenship this year by voting "not in a particular way or for a particular candidate, but voting so that you register your will against those who by sharp practice would deprive you of the right to register your will at all."

Senator Johnson said the fact that there is a place for women in the political lands and in governmental affairs was demonstrated long ago in California where the government, "immediately after suffrage was adopted, availed themselves of the peculiar talent of women in certain directions in carrying out our humanitarian program there." He said he appointed the first "wholly woman's board in the United States, that which superintended and managed the girls school at Ventura, California."

"It was the women in California," he continued, "who as a member of the minimum wage commission brought employer and employees together and carried out a play by which women in industry were given a living wage and carried out the play so successfully that it won the commendation not only of the helpless women it was designed to benefit but of the employing class too."

"I RECOMMEND TANLAC TO ANY ONE HE SAYS"

Was So Run Down He Was Almost Past Doing Any Work—Troubles Quickly Overcome.

"I count myself lucky that I got Tanlac," said Albert Hicks, or "Al" as he is familiarly called by his many friends, 218 Parsons street, Cincinnati, "for I had gotten to where I was constantly having to lay off from my work."

Mr. Hicks has been employed by the Cincinnati Park Department as landscape gardener for the past nine years and has been a member of the Junior Order United American Mechanics for fourteen years. He has lived in this present home for fifteen years and is highly respected by all who know him.

I certainly can recommend Tanlac from the bottom of my heart," he said, "for it has rid me of a case of rheumatism and other troubles that had about put me past going. Why, the rheumatic pains were so sharp in my right arm that I could hardly get my hand above my shoulder to do my work at the park, and my left leg and shoulder hurt me nearly as bad. My kidneys bothered me a great deal and my back ached so bad and was so weak I had to have it strapped. My appetite went back on me and I ate so little that all my energy and most of my strength left me. I was so run down and weak that just a little job of work or short walk would get me all fagged out and short of breath. I felt tired all the time and would come staggering in home from my work in the evenings and just drop down in a chair completely exhausted. I was badly constipated and invariably got up in the mornings with a mean, nagging headache, and feeling as tired and no account as when I went to bed. My arms and legs felt so sore and stiff in the mornings that I had to sit on the side of the bed for sometime and rub them before I could walk, and even then every step I took hurt me.

"Finally first one of my friends after another got to asking me why I did not try Tanlac, so at last I got a bottle and felt better before it was half gone. I have not finished my third bottle yet and I am feeling just fine already. My work doesn't tire me any more and I come home in the evenings with such a big appetite that I can hardly eat enough to satisfy me. My kidneys have stopped bothering me and I don't have to have my back strapped any more for my backache has entirely disappeared. I get up in the mornings free from headache, eat a hearty breakfast and go off to my work feeling fine. I now consider myself a well man and don't hesitate to recommend Tanlac to anyone suffering as I did for it certainly is one grand medicine."

A dull, dragging feeling of the body, a sluggish mind, dull memory, depression of spirits, nervousness, irritability, stomach trouble, indigestion, weak back, and headaches are among the numerous symptoms of a condition from which a surprisingly large number of people suffer. Experience has taught that ninety percent of all chronic ill health is caused by poor digestion and non-assimilation of the food, which causes a catarrhal inflammation of the mucus membrane.

Tanlac proved of great benefit to Mr. Hicks because it contains certain medicinal properties which combat these very troubles. Many thousands are now using this famous medicine in all sections of the United States and Canada, and scores of testimonials are received daily from men and women of unquestioned honesty and integrity expressing deep gratitude as a result of having found such a great source of relief.

Tanlac is sold in Paris by J. D. Dickey & Son, in Roxton by City Drug Store, and Howland by K. B. Burgess.

LETTERS COMMENDING THE SPECIAL EDITION

The following letters were received by the chamber of commerce from people who received the special edition of March 21. Others of these letters will be printed from day to day.

I received the Paris Morning
 News, which you so kindly sent me, and noted the before and after pictures. I want to congratulate you in your splendid effort in reconstructing your beautiful city, and I am sure that your Chamber of Commerce was a very big factor in its uplift.
 Here's wishing that Paris will some day be the leading city in Texas.

Sincerely yours,
 R. S. Lloyd Dry Goods Co.

Your letter apprising me that you had sent me the pictorial edition of the Paris Morning News received, all to the special edition of the Paris Morning News.

I want to congratulate you and your city on the most marvelous accomplishment of four years. Sometimes a conflagration like that ultimately results in good and a town is not made up of buildings, but of men and from what has been done
 the real asset of Paris was not impaired.

I congratulate you and wish for you an equally great accomplishment in the next four years and in each succeeding four years to come.
 I send you greetings from the Chamber of Commerce of Winfield, Kansas and invite you, each of you individually and collectively, to call on us if you are ever within a thousand miles of this place.

Very truly,
 Winfield Commercial Association II.
 H. Seider, President.

I am in receipt of your letter of March 21, 1920, also copy of Paris
 Morning News of same date.

You are to be congratulated on your efforts to keep Paris before the Public as any live city should do. I was in Paris the day following the fire. I also was in Paris March 17, 1920. The transformation is something wonderful, and could only have been accomplished by such people as Paris has for citizens. I can recall the fire of 1877 as some of our older members can. Then, Paris showed her indomitable will to rise from ashes.

You may now travel the length and breadth of this United States and yet it be known you are from Paris, and at once you will be recognized as one from the prettiest and best towns of the southwest.

Wishing you success in all your undertaking and thanking you for your remembrance, I beg to remain, Yours truly,
 Braine-Campbell Construction Co., By
 S. W. Braine, Dallas.

We acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 21st inst., advising us you have forwarded under another cover a special edition of the Paris Morning News and would advise you this has come to hand.

We have looked over this edition of March 21, and find that there has been a wonderful change in your town from the time the fire occurred to the present, and the taste displayed in rebuilding your city has been superb, and it is a credit not only to the town, but also to the State of Texas.

Very truly yours,
 Charles Lumber Co., Inc., Philadelphia, Frederick Lanning, President.

Your favor of the 21st, also copy of the special edition of the "Paris Morning News," are received.

It is very difficult for one of a limited vocabulary to do justice to the wonderful enterprise shown by your city in its work of restoration after the fire of four years ago. We wish to extend our congratulations to your city in having a Chamber of Commerce to whom we know they are largely indebted for this work, and we wish to congratulate the Chamber of Commerce in being located in such an interesting, progressive community.

Thanking you for the paper, we remain,
 Very truly yours,
 Yates Lumber Company, Penn. Yan.
 N. Y. D. C. Pierce, Treasurer.

This acknowledgment with thank-your favor of the 21st and also the receipt of the splendid edition of the Paris Morning News of Sunday, March 21st.

It is difficult to differentiate in awarding praise as between the Paris Morning News and its remarkable edition of this paper did paper, or the City of Paris backed by its progressive Chamber of Commerce in the rehabilitation that has occurred in the last four years. Both of them are entitled to unusual felicitations for the evidences of brain and pluck.

Evidently Paul, the Apostle, when he was writing to the Corinthians did not know about Paris, Texas, nor the beneficial effects of insurance and the healing effects of hard work and intelligent effort.

Paul thought of Corinthians 3:12
 and its subsequent verses verses) that "if a man's work shall be burned he shall suffer loss, while he himself may be saved as if by fire." Good insurance protects some of that possible prophecy, and with such a Chamber of Commerce and such a newspaper as you have in Paris, added to its other very many attractions and natural gifts, it would take more than a fire to hold Paris down.

We congratulate you.
 Very truly yours,
 Third National Bank, Columbus
 Georgia, G. Gunby Jordan, President.

I have your valued favor of the 21st inst., also copy of the special edition of the Morning News, and it doesn't need the testimony of the pictures to inform the outside world that you are very much alive in Paris. The idea that prompted the publishing of this edition, and the idea of mailing it to other Chambers of Commerce is ample proof to me that you need no lessons in city building, civic patriotism and loyalty, and that is as it should be. No city can afford to neglect these things.

CHICAGO STRIKE STOPS RECEIPT OF CATTLE AT ALL PACKING HOUSES

Chicago, March 30.—Arbitration of differences between 900 striking members of the Livestock Handlers union and the packing companies was rejected today by union officers who announced the men would remain out until their demands for wage increases of from $39 to $45 a month were granted. The men now receive from $30 to $130 a month, union offers said.

No shipments of cattle, hogs or sheep were received at the yards today and packing company officers admitted they would be obliged to shut down if the strike continued several days, forcing 50,000 other workers out of employment.

The men today called out by a sympathetic strike private watchmen employed by the packers, leaving the stock yards without fire protection other than that given by the city.

Federal Judge Alschuler last night refused the request of the union to arbitrate until all strikers had returned to work. Federal mediators were expected tomorrow to use their influence in getting the men back.

O. T. Henkle, general manager of a stronger than the will of its people, and a strong people willing to dare will carry a city far ahead. "Go on," "Increase and multiply." You have our hearty good wishes to accept of the motto of the city of Paris.

Paris is to be congratulated on having an up-to-date Chamber of Commerce with a keen progressive set of officers.

Very sincerely yours,
 Rockford Chamber of Commerce, by John H. Camlin, President.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned will apply to the city council of the city of Paris at its next regular meeting for a franchise to use such portion of the sidewalk as will be required to erect and maintain an illuminated pole, the same to be erected in all respects according to the requirements of the charter and ordinances of the city of Paris,
 Texas, governing such franchises.

COUGHED FOR 2 YEARS ORDERED TO DENVER

Doctor said she couldn't get well
 in Illinois, but she did.

"I had a very bad cough for 2 years,
 all the time, day and night. Could sleep but little. I tried everything but got no relief. Finally my doctor said I could do no more for me, that I had better go to Denver as I couldn't live in Illinois. Then I tried Milks Emulsion. From the very first, it helped me.
 By the time I had taken 12 bottles, my cough left me entirely. I have gained in strength and flesh and am now in perfect health."—Mrs. Alice M. Huntley, 182 No. Pearl St., Galesburg, Ill.

Build up your system and give it a chance to fight off disease. Milks Emulsion costs nothing to try and it has done
 the work for thousands of others.

Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, dis-ting away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whose system has weakened, and is a powerful aid in resisting and repairing the effects of wasting diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved —usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made,
 and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Truly wonderful for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results,
 your money will be promptly refunded.
 Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. The Milks Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold by druggists everywhere.

Guaranteed by R. J. Murphy

the Union Stock Yards Transit company, said the company was willing to arbitrate but that the workers had refused.

"In quitting work to enforce new wage demands the men have broken their agreement made last June, not to strike until peace was signed," he said.

Shipments of cattle were diverted today to other cities but there were still many cars waiting outside the city. The Chicago Junction railroad notified other railroads that no livestock, except horses, would be accepted for delivery here.
